

I choose to subscribe to satellite radio to avoid listening to local broadcast radio. It is absurd to attempt to create an environment where the local broadcasters would not have to compete for their share of market. It certainly isn't satellite radio's fault that many people would choose to pay for quality programming and not listen to their programming for free! It certainly is not the government's role to restrict competition and penalize those organizations that produce a superior product and get the public to pay for it!
